

Accident Claims Update

Nockolds' International Accident Claim Department

One year in, Dual Qualified English-Spanish Lawyer, Ignacio Morillas, and Nockolds International Department has already helped many local clients.

Lynn Cowley, a Partner at the Bishops Stortford firm, says "we are committed to offering independent, expert advice to both British and International clients.

With Ignacio's expertise and understanding of the cultural and legal differences, we are helping our clients' with their international needs". Over the past year the Department has handled Travel and Holiday Accident Claims and disputes where one or both parties are based outside the UK. They can also act as a liaison with foreign agents and professionals or for international clients to ease any communication difficulties, and ensure matters are concluded smoothly.

Ignacio comments that "communication between different cultures can be frustrating. It is paramount that different customs and ways of dealing with matters are acknowledged. At Nockolds we appreciate this. With our wealth of language skills and experience of international affairs, we can ease client's concerns, by ensuring they understand the issues completely. As we are independent, our priority is to protect our client's interests, and give impartial advice and provide practical solutions. This year we have handled claims ranging from road traffic, tripping incidents to skiing accidents.
