Stamp Duty or Land Tax

This depends on the purchase price of your property. You can calculate the amount you will need to pay by using HMRC's website <https://www.tax.service.gov.uk/calculate-stamp-duty-land-tax/#/intro>, or if the property is located in Wales by using the Welsh Revenue Authority's website <https://beta.gov.wales/land-transaction-tax-calculator>.

Stages of the Process

The precise stages involved in the purchase of a residential leasehold property vary according to the circumstances. However, some key stages include:

- › Taking your instructions and giving you initial advice;
- › Checking finances are in place to fund your purchase and contacting the lender's solicitors if needed;
- › Receiving and advising you on contract documents;
- › Carrying out searches against the property;
- › Obtaining further planning documentation if required;
- › Making any necessary enquiries of the seller's solicitor;
- › Giving you advice on all documents and information received;
- › Going through conditions of mortgage offer (where applicable);
- › Sending the final contract to you for signature;
- › Drafting the transfer;
- › Advising you on joint ownership;
- › Obtaining pre-completion searches;
- › Agreeing a completion date (date from which you will own the property);
- › Exchanging contracts and notifying you that this has happened;
- › Arranging for all monies needed to be received from the lender and you;
- › Completing the purchase;
- › Dealing with payment of Stamp Duty / Land Tax;

- › Dealing with the application for registration of the property into your name with the Land Registry.

How Long Will My Leasehold Property Purchase Take?

How long it will take from your offer being accepted until you can move in to your house will depend on a number of factors. The average process takes between eight to 12 weeks from receipt of contract papers. It can be quicker or slower, depending on the parties in the chain. For example, if you are a first time buyer, purchasing a new build leasehold property with a mortgage in principle, it could take even longer. However, if you are buying a leasehold property that requires an extension of the lease, this can take significantly longer, between three and six months. In such a situation, additional charges would apply.

* These fees vary from property to property and can on occasion be significantly more than the ranges given above. We can give you an accurate figure once we have sight of your specific documents. Please call us for further information.

Our estimated fee assumes that:

- › This is a standard transaction and that no unforeseen matters arise including, for example (but not limited to) a defect in title which requires remedying prior to completion or the preparation of additional documents ancillary to the main transaction;
- › This is the transfer of an existing lease and is not the grant of a new lease;
- › The transaction is concluded in a timely manner and no unforeseen complications arise;
- › All parties to the transaction are co-operative and there is no unreasonable delay from third parties providing documentation;
- › No indemnity policies are required. Additional disbursements may apply if indemnity policies are required.

Below is a list of things that may increase the estimated cost and the length of time taken to complete your transaction:

- › Value of the property;
- › First time buyer;
- › Re-mortgage;
- › Freehold or leasehold;
- › New build;
- › First registration of title;
- › Whether there is a mortgage or not, or Islamic mortgage;
- › In purchase cases, whether primary residence, buy to let or second / holiday home;
- › Multiple owners;
- › Shared ownership scheme;
- › Using a help to buy scheme, and whether it is an equity loan or ISA;
- › Purchase under right to buy;
- › Purchase at auction;
- › Property has been repossessed.

Note: This list is not intended to be exhaustive. The important point is that the information you provide may affect the estimate you receive. Please call us to discuss the specifics so that we can give you a more accurate guide.
